ABOUT US

At E.L Blue our focus has always been 'growth' - when our clients grow we grow. And by taking care of the HR services that organisations need to thrive, we free up the time of business owners to concentrate on their core business, and ultimately grow.

Founded in 1998 by Grant Montgomery and Greg Puttick, E.L Blue began with a focus on outsourcing the employment function for clients with a bottom-line focus. From those early days E.L Blue has grown into an industry leader offering a suite of expert services across human resources to both small business and larger organisations.

However, it's not just about delivering the services, its about results. Our industry-knowledge, seamless processes and unrivalled experience give us the ability to turn people performance into tangible business results.

E.L BLUE PROTECTION

- Offers you the expertise and protection you need to deal with employee issues
- Offers you the people expertise to help you grow your business
- One fixed all-inclusive fee, no hidden costs or “extras”
- We do not lock your business into a fixed term contract as we are confident with our services and the benefits you will gain
- Proactive approach - we provide access to a range of fully customisable Human Resource and Safety documents
- Tailored to each individual company, you will know the HR Manager you are talking to

The first step in the process is a highly trained HR Manager will visit your workplace, thoroughly reviewing your current employee practices, activities and documentation to determine if they comply with employee management and work health and safety best practice.

After the review, your HR Manager will provide a report identifying any areas of non-compliance and provide a documented Human Resource strategy and implementation plan that will help you grow your business.

In a nutshell, we offer:

- Peace of mind with tailored solutions for Fair Work compliance
- A complete set of uniquely tailored workplace documents
- A proactive approach to people issues to help grow your business and protect you from employment risks
- A tailored approach working with people you know

With a dedicated onsite HR professional that becomes part of your team, E.L Blue will seamlessly take care of your Human Resource needs and ultimately help you grow your business.

Your organisation will have access to a range of Human Resource experts that will drive and improve your:

- People and Culture Strategy
- Workforce Planning
- Recruitment
- Training and Development
- Organisational Development and Culture
- Performance Alignment and Management
- Industrial Relations, Union, and Employee Management
- Counselling and Dispute Management
- Employment Terminations
- Workplace Health and Safety Management
